

Don C., New York

“As an animator, I’m aware of how realistic video games can be.”

“Video games are great fun, but I know that some aren’t appropriate for my sons. That’s why I use the video game rating system. It tells me what’s in the game and also lets me know age-appropriateness. As a father, choosing the right video games for my family is important—and the ratings help me make good choices.”
