

Because Sarah plays games, there is a group of people making sure the games she plays are rated. They're called the Entertainment Software Rating Board, but that's the long way of saying it. Usually, they're just called the

And they're the ones that do it. Somebody's got to do it. It's right for you, your older brother, Mom and Dad, anybody. Somebody's got to do it. They check each game to help make sure

ESRB.
